

ABSTRACT

The present invention concerns the use of methods and/or compositions related to the synthesis and use of fatty asparagine, cysteine and/or serine derivatives. In particular, the invention concerns methods and compositions for the production of liposomes
5 including fatty asparagine, cysteine and/or serine derivatives.